The Plan will provide coverage up to a maximum of $2,000.00 per member and each eligible dependent per calendar year.

The Plan will limit the eligible amount to a maximum of a 30-day supply per initial order or refill.

The Plan will not provide reimbursement for any expenses associated with recreational cannabis or cannabis prescribed for any service not listed above or do not have a PIN number assigned.

What is the difference between THC and CBD

THC is the active ingredient in cannabis that gives the plant many of its psychoactive and euphoric effects. CBD is an active but non intoxicating or generally sedative cannabinoid.

The Chronic Pain Triad & Medical Cannabis

Its three elements are the basis for most chronic pain, intense pain, mental health, wellness and sleep quality.

These interconnected elements can significantly affect a person's quality of life. A high level of pain can take a significant toll on mental health and the quality of sleep.

Medical cannabis has the potential to bring relief, with less risk of addiction or dependency than many opioids. Less Harmful. Less Pain.

How do I use medical cannabis?

The most common methods of consumption include vaporizing and/or oral consumption of an oil or tincture.

Typically, healthcare or medical practitioners never recommend smoking cannabis because it produces many of the same toxic compounds found in cigarette smoke and can harm the lungs as opposed to consuming it via alternative methods.

Vaporization uses an internal element to heat the cannabis to a temperature which is hot enough to turn the active compounds into a vapor without generating the undesirable by-products of smoke.

Oral ingestion is favoured by most medical practitioners. This method of consumption tends to provide deeper, longer-lasting physical sensations throughout the body but takes longer for the effects to be felt.

Partnering with Starseed Medicinal Inc., members and eligible dependents will be able to take advantage of preferred pricing, free consultation and electronic claim reimbursement.
